

MUDGE MURAL Meanderings

2012: This year Graeme Mudge was named a Queen's Service Medal (QSM) recipient in the New Year honours list. Acknowledged for his services to art.

No one else in Gisborne has spent 40 years getting up every morning and doing pen and wash pictures of every building, every area of the district, as Graeme Mudge QSM has done. Let alone the abstract oils, the meticulous life drawing, the murals (as shown on this webpage) that are scattered around the city, plus other worldly sculptures, hewn from Totara and burnished to a high sheen.

Later in 2012 Graeme will mark the 50th anniversary of his arrival in Gisborne with a special 80th birthday show that is scheduled for September in the Tairāwhiti Museum... details will be announced in due course.

Print this PDF and take a leisurely stroll or drive around the city to view.

Graeme Mudge Murals are found throughout Gisborne city... as you take a leisurely meander around the city...

2003: This Self Portrait of Gisborne's Artist Graeme Mudge was painted to mark 40 years since he arrived in Gisborne 1963.
